Every effort has been made to provide a complete and accurate listing of donors and gifts of $1,000 or more received between July 1, 2009 and June 30, 2010. Please accept our sincere apology if a mistake or an omission has occurred.

It is the policy of the University of California, Santa Barbara and the UC Santa Barbara Foundation that a modest portion of gifts and/or the income from gifts may be used to defray the costs of raising and administering funds. As of July 1, 2010, the assessment is 2 percent on all new gifts.

A Shared Future

As UC Santa Barbara grappled with huge reductions in state funding during 2009-2010, alumni, parents, and friends responded in record numbers and with overwhelming generosity, contributing $44.5 million for scholarships, research, and academic programs — an increase of nearly $4 million over the previous year.

Thus far, the multi-year Campaign for UC Santa Barbara has generated almost $590 million for priority projects and initiatives that will help ensure the campus's overall excellence for future generations.

UCSB's accomplishments in teaching, research, and public service are strengthened immeasurably by private philanthropy, and our donors can take special satisfaction in this. Your enthusiastic support also continues to play a pivotal role in enabling the campus to respond to economic challenges in ways that do not compromise our commitment to quality, access, and innovation.

To counteract the rising cost of a UC education, donations for student scholarships and fellowships increased nearly 50 percent to more than $5 million last year. We are also delighted to report that endowment gifts for student internships and pioneering research surpassed $10 million. Three new endowed professorships were established, bringing the campaign total to 59.

Creating a vital and vibrant future for UC Santa Barbara — a future that will reflect the needs of our changing world and of tomorrow's students — is foremost on our minds as campus planning moves forward for the next phase of the campaign.

Please accept our sincere gratitude for your partnership in this extraordinary endeavor. Your investment in UC Santa Barbara is an investment in our shared future, one that holds great promise and opportunity with tremendous benefits for us all.

Philanthropy at Work

UC Santa Barbara is proud to recognize the growing number of alumni, parents, and friends, as well as corporations, foundations, and organizations, who made generous contributions to The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara in the year ending June 30, 2010. Their philanthropic gifts will enhance teaching and research, strengthen existing areas of excellence, and make it possible to develop new, innovative academic programs.

To all of our supporters, especially those listed in the Honor Roll of Donors that begins on page 14, UCSB expresses its sincere gratitude and profound appreciation. On the pages that follow are just a few examples of the ways in which the generosity of UC Santa Barbara's benefactors supports academic excellence and creates new opportunities for learning and discovery.

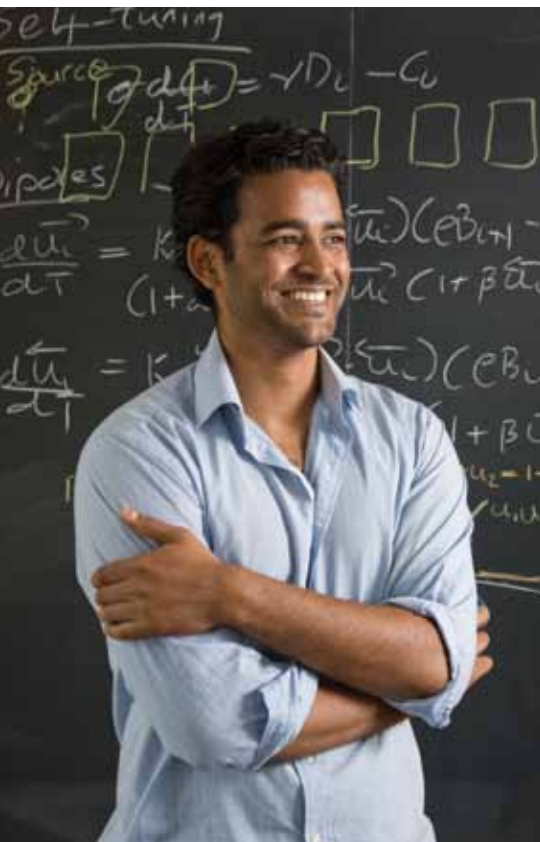

Making a Difference

Clinical trials are under way at 12 locations throughout the world on a new artificial pancreas developed in collaboration with UCSB researchers to help treat Type I diabetes.

their support for the campus was SAGE Publications, Inc., which contributed $1.45 million for the SAGE Center for the Study of the Mind. The recent gift for the center’s distinguished visiting scholar program and lecture series will enable the SAGE Center to bring leading researchers to campus to explore the multidimensional nature of the human mind.

The Simons Foundation awarded the Physics Department nearly $600,000 to extend the frontiers of research in theoretical physics. The postdoctoral research fellowships will enable UCSB to recruit outstanding recent Ph.D. recipients to campus to pursue their individual research projects in collaboration with a faculty mentor.

Theoretical biologist Madhav Mani has been named a Simons Postdoctoral Research Fellow.

UC Santa Barbara received a record 18,023 gifts during 2009-2010 to advance teaching and research and help improve people’s lives. Following are examples of a few outstanding gifts.

The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation provided $264,000 for research on the design and clinical testing of algorithms for an artificial pancreas to help treat Type I diabetes. Contributions for Alzheimer’s research and education included a major anonymous gift, as well as $160,000 from the Alzheimer’s Association and Intel for the research and development of online software to help improve lifestyle habits and delay the onset of the disease.

In addition, musician Jack Johnson and his wife, Kim, both alumni, donated $50,000 to assist students with serious medical conditions through the Disabled Students Program.

Among the donors who renewed

Elizabeth Loftus, an expert on human memory, is among the foremost scholars that present their work at the SAGE Center for the Study of the Mind.

Harding University Partnership School teacher Verity Allen helps one of her fourth-grade students work out a math concept in a class offered by UCSB's Center for Mathematical Inquiry in collaboration with the Gevirtz Graduate School of Education.

Learning a New Way

Harry Lucas, Jr., chair of the Educational Advancement Foundation, contributed more than $317,000 to the Department of Mathematics to renew his support for the Center for Mathematical Inquiry (CMI).

The CMI is one of five inquiry-based learning projects established by the donor at major research universities to improve mathematics education. The UCSB center is engaged in teacher education and research on inquiry-based learning practices in K-12 and university mathematics classes. Students learn through guided exploration with the help of experienced instructors.

"The renewed support from Mr. Lucas will ensure the continued development of a research base that examines teaching and learning through inquiry-based practices," said Bill Jacob, UCSB professor of mathematics and director of the center. "We are learning more about how ideas develop in learners."

In collaboration with the Teacher Education Program in UCSB's Gevirtz Graduate School of Education, the CMI offers classes for K-12 students and workshops for schoolteachers at Harding University Partnership School in Santa Barbara. Since 2004, the UCSB center has received nearly $1.5 million from Lucas to support its innovative work.

UC Santa Barbara donors recognized the need for increased financial aid to help offset the higher cost of a UC education, contributing more than $5 million for scholarships and graduate fellowships.

Keeping UCSB Affordable

To help students address the rising cost of a UC education, donations for scholarships and fellowships increased substantially last year to more than $5 million, reflecting the growing generosity of UC Santa Barbara parents, alumni, and friends.

Among the major gifts was a $759,000 endowment, established in memory of UCSB alumnus Kevin Christensen, that will provide ongoing scholarship support. The gift was in the form of a bequest from Christensen's late mother, Carolyn. In addition, the Mithun Family Foundation donated almost $400,000 for financial aid.

"With the recent increase in UC fees, many students are struggling to find ways to finance their education, and it is generous gifts such as these that will make the dream of a college degree become a reality for many of our students," said Mike Miller, acting director of the Office of Financial Aid. At UCSB, 70 percent of all undergraduates receive some form of financial assistance.

The recent contributions will also help advance Project You Can, a University of California systemwide effort to raise $1 billion in private funds over the next four years to ensure educational access for all qualified students.

Building an Exceptional Faculty

Three new endowed professorships were established last year with generous philanthropic gifts totaling more than $2 million. These highly prized academic positions enable UCSB to attract and retain leading scholars and to develop more fully a field of study by providing ongoing support for innovative teaching and research.

They are the Glen and Susanne Culler Chair in Computer Science; the Jack and Laura Dangermond Chair in Geography; and the Wayne Rosing, Simon and Diana Raab Chair in Theoretical Astrophysics in the Kavli Institute for Theoretical Physics (KITP). The Kavli Foundation matched the gifts for the KITP professorship, donating $1 million to the general endowment of the internationally renowned research institute.

Michael Goodchild, professor of geography and director of the Center for Spatial Studies, was recently appointed to the Dangermond Professorship. Astrophysicist Lars Bildsten, a permanent member of the Kavli Institute for Theoretical Physics, was named to the Rosing, Raab Chair in Theoretical Astrophysics.

Since the Campaign for UC Santa Barbara was launched in 2000, a total of 59 endowed chairs have been created, bringing the campus total to 83.

Harder Stadium has been revitalized by private support in preparation for hosting the 2010 NCAA Division I Men's College Cup.

Scoring the College Cup

In preparation for hosting the 2010 NCAA Division I Men's College Cup, UC Santa Barbara received $150,000 from the MFI Foundation for the construction of a new scoreboard with enhanced video capabilities at Meredith Field in Harder Stadium.

The national soccer championship will be held in December. This will be the first time UCSB will host the event. In 2006, the men's soccer team won the NCAA championship.

Will Meredith, director of the MFI Foundation, is an alumnus and a former member of the UCSB soccer team. The stadium playing field is named for his family in recognition of their generous support.

Additional enhancements to the soccer venue made possible by private support include a new field surface and irrigation system, upgraded concession facilities, an enhanced press area, and a dramatic new stadium entrance named in honor of the late UCSB football coach, Jack Curtice. Harder Stadium, a popular sports and concert venue, can accommodate 16,000 people.

Annually, more than 459 Division I student-athletes compete for national championships at UCSB.

A dramatic new entrance, Jack Curtice Gate, will welcome fans to Harder Stadium and Meredith Field.

Inspiring Interns

Sara Miller McCune has given $500,000 to the Walter H. Capps Center for the Study of Ethics, Religion, and Public Life to create an endowment that will provide ongoing support for the student intern and public service program, which has been named in her honor.

“The Sara Miller McCune Internship Program will greatly enhance the education of our students by allowing them to explore their civic interests and develop leadership skills, while performing meaningful community and public service,” said Chancellor Henry T. Yang.

The recent contribution will enrich the education of undergraduates by enabling more students to participate in the center’s highly competitive, yearlong internship program. The program includes coursework and training in nonprofit organizations and the opportunity to serve as interns through UC educational centers in Sacramento and Washington, D.C.

McCune, a longtime campus benefactor and former trustee of the UC Santa Barbara Foundation, was instrumental in the center’s formation and serves on its advisory board. Over the years, she has provided critical funding for many areas of the campus. McCune is publisher and chairman of SAGE Publications, Inc., a leading academic publisher.

The McCune Internship Program will expand student internship opportunities locally and through UC centers in Washington, D.C. and Sacramento.

The highly sought-after McCune Internships at the Walter H. Capps Center for the Study of Ethics, Religion, and Public Life include coursework taught by center director Wade Clark Roof, above, and yearlong training in carefully selected nonprofit organizations.

Recognizing Distinction

Private gifts are increasingly important in maintaining the quality of UC Santa Barbara's mission of teaching, research, and public service. Among the principal forms of private support are endowed chairs, which support the educational and research activities of distinguished members of the faculty.

The following generous benefactors have made permanent investments in UC Santa Barbara's future by establishing endowed chairs.

Honor Roll of Donors

Lancaster Society

UC Santa Barbara is grateful for the extraordinary support of our alumni, parents, friends, trustees of the UC Santa Barbara Foundation, corporations, and foundations who have contributed $100,000 or more to the university over time. Through their commitment and leadership, these distinguished members of the Lancaster Society have helped build the university's reputation for teaching, research, and public service. The Society is named for Louis and Winifred Lancaster, civic-minded philanthropists deeply committed to the public partnership that is at the heart of UC Santa Barbara. During their lifetimes, they helped establish the UC Santa Barbara Foundation and worked tirelessly to build meaningful bridges between the university and the larger community. Their vision is sustained through the loyal generosity of today's members of the Lancaster Society, celebrated for their contributions to an enduring foundation for excellence at UC Santa Barbara.

Legacy Circle

The Legacy Circle honors alumni, friends, faculty, and staff who have included UC Santa Barbara in their estate plans through some form of planned gift. Membership in the society is conferred upon those who have communicated to the university their intention to make a gift through a bequest, charitable trust, charitable gift annuity, pooled income funds, life insurance, retirement fund, or a gift of property with a retained life estate. The following generous donors are providing the legacy of support that will enable UC Santa Barbara to continue to grow and excel.

Chancellor's Council

The Chancellor's Council, UC Santa Barbara's premier annual giving program, recognizes donors of $1,000 or more to the university. These gifts are essential to building and maintaining the overall excellence of the campus. They may be unrestricted for use where the need is greatest, or restricted to support a specific department or program. UC Santa Barbara honors and celebrates alumni, friends, parents, and trustees of the UC Santa Barbara Foundation for their ongoing partnership and commitment to the future of this great university.
