Keeping the Promise of Excellence

Dear Friends,

Nearly every important development at UC Santa Barbara has benefited from the growing generosity of our devoted alumni, parents, and friends, and we are sincerely grateful for your inspirational commitment to the overall excellence of the campus. We are proud to report that The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara thus far has generated more than $623 million for priority projects and initiatives, resulting in UCSB's top fund-raising years. ■ Of that total, nearly $35 million was contributed during 2010-11, reflecting a significant increase in alumni giving and financial assistance for our students. Your visionary gifts have helped us attract and retain top faculty across the disciplines, support undergraduate and graduate students, pursue exciting educational opportunities and research initiatives, and build state-of-the-art facilities to meet the needs of our campus community. ■ Creating a vibrant future for UCSB and our students — a future that reflects the needs of our changing world — is foremost on our minds as The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara embraces new opportunities and challenges in areas that promise not only to expand knowledge and find new solutions, but also to improve the quality of life for the citizens of California and our global society. UC Santa Barbara is honored, once again, to partner with you as the campaign moves forward with renewed vigor. ■ Please accept our sincere appreciation for your enthusiastic and heartwarming support for our campus. Your gifts to UC Santa Barbara are in truth investments, and the dividend will most surely be a better tomorrow.

Cordially,

Bruce G. Wilcox '77
Chair, UC Santa Barbara Foundation

Henry T. Yang, Chancellor

Philanthropy at Work

UC Santa Barbara is proud to recognize the growing number of alumni, parents, and friends, as well as corporations, foundations, and organizations, who made generous contributions to The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara in the year ending June 30, 2011. Their philanthropic gifts will enhance teaching and research, strengthen existing areas of excellence, and make it possible to develop new, innovative academic programs.

To all of our supporters, especially those listed in the Honor Roll of Donors that begins on page 17, UCSB expresses its sincere gratitude and profound appreciation. On the pages that follow are just a few examples of the ways in which the generosity of UC Santa Barbara's benefactors supports academic excellence and creates new opportunities for learning and discovery.

Expanding Screenwriting Opportunities

Aclaimed screenwriter Scott Frank, who graduated from UC Santa Barbara with an undergraduate degree in film studies, has made an additional $250,000 gift to the campus to expand the screenwriting curriculum in the Department of Film and Media Studies and support related public programming in the Pollock Theater, the campus's new cultural venue at the Carsey-Wolf Center.

In honor of his recent gift, one of the center's screening rooms will be named in memory of Paul Lazarus, who was Frank's screenwriting teacher at UCSB. Frank's previous gift was for the construction of the innovative center.

Film and media studies focuses on film, television, and new media around the world. With nearly 500 undergraduate majors and dozens of graduate students, the program cultivates critical and analytical skills through the study of media objects and practices. The department's teaching, production, and screening facilities have been expanded at the Carsey-Wolf Center, making it one of the leading international film and media centers for graduate and undergraduate study and research. Students also explore future career paths with a network of committed alumni, including Frank.

Preserving Access and Affordability

The Department of Music has received a $550,000 endowment gift in the form of a bequest from the late Ardis Higgins that will provide ongoing support for scholarships and fellowships in ethnomusicology and Scandinavian music. A devoted UCSB volunteer and benefactor, Higgins was an Honorary Alumna of the campus who helped generate financial support for many promising students.

“This wonderful gift will enable the Music Department to support an additional graduate student in ethnomusicology, a growing area of academic interest, with enough funding to provide a stipend and cover rising UC Fees,” said Paul Berkowitz, department chair. “The scholarship will also provide financial assistance for a student majoring in musicology or performance.”

In addition, UCSB graduate Diane Dodds made a $125,000 contribution to the alumni scholarship fund. Her gift will help advance Project You Can, a University of California systemwide effort to raise $1 billion in private funds over the next four years to ensure educational access for all qualified students. To help enhance undergraduate education, alumni parents Glenn and Bettina Duval contributed $100,000 to the College of Letters and Science.

*Hundreds of students enrolled in introductory biology are conducting original research focused on the roundworm Caenorhabditis elegans, a widely used genetic model for biomedical research.*

*UC Santa Barbara plans to share the result of the students' research with the worldwide C. elegans research community by publishing their data on the Internet.*

Learning Through Discovery

Original research offers undergraduates an opportunity to delve deeper into a subject, whether in a science lab, at the library, or in the field gathering data. Over half of all graduating seniors collaborate with UCSB faculty members on original research or creative projects.

To help strengthen undergraduate science education through research, the Howard Hughes Medical Institute has awarded $1 million to UC Santa Barbara. The grant will enable faculty members to pursue their most creative ideas by developing new ways to teach and inspire students. The institute awarded $70 million to leading research scientists nationwide to making science more engaging to undergraduates.

Similarly, the Arnold and Mabel Beckman Foundation contributed more than $115,000 to support six undergraduates conducting interdisciplinary research in the chemical and biological sciences. The biomedical research projects supported by this award are diverse, and they promise to yield exciting discoveries.

"The Beckman Scholars Program is a powerful enabling resource for the development of creativity and independence in our younger generation," said Galen Stucky, program director and professor of chemistry and biochemistry, and of materials.

Entertaining Bold Moves and Big Ideas

UC Santa Barbara philanthropist Sara Miller McCune has made a $1.5 million gift to Arts & Lectures that will provide essential endowment and programming support. This is the largest gift for the award-winning program, which brings acclaimed performing artists, thought-provoking sustains Arts & Lectures and helps it fulfill its commitment to artistic excellence by providing accessibility to the widest possible audience, maintaining affordable ticket prices, and delivering valuable arts education and enrichment opportunities for students at UCSB and in schools throughout the region.

Over the years, McCune, a volunteer leader, has provided critical funding for many areas of the campus. She is chairman of SAGE Publications, Inc., a leading international publisher.

lectures, and powerful films to Santa Barbara audiences. In recognition of McCune's leadership gift, the executive director's position in Arts & Lectures will be named in her honor.

"Sara's gift is a strong testament to the value of Arts & Lectures, and an important investment in the future of our program," said Celesta Billeci, Miller McCune executive director.

Private support strengthens and

The Sustainable Ocean Solutions project will develop solutions for the world's dwindling fisheries. Because of overfishing, cities and villages throughout Indonesia now must import fish.

Seeking Sustainable Ocean Solutions

The Bren School of Environmental Science and Management has launched the Sustainable Ocean Solutions project with a $400,000 gift from the Waitt Foundation. The project seeks novel solutions for the challenges facing the world's fisheries. It will result in more resilient fishing communities, sustainable fisheries, better-functioning marine ecosystems, increased quantity and quality of local fresh seafood, and an improved alignment of supply and demand. The project complements the work of the Sustainable Fisheries Group, a joint venture of the Bren School and the Marine Science Institute, which is also supported by the foundation.

In addition, the Walton Foundation has contributed $1 million in support of fellowships for highly qualified Bren School graduate students enrolled in the master of environmental science and management degree, with a concentration in coastal marine resources management. The Latin American Fishery Fellows program is for students dedicated to pursuing a career in Latin America. Its goal is to train a new generation of fisheries and marine resource managers, conservation practitioners, and environmental leaders to help ensure abundant seafood, support coastal communities, and sustain marine ecosystems in these countries.

Developing Energy Efficient Technologies

An academic tradition rooted in the 15th century, is laying the groundwork for some of the campus's most ambitious new academic plans. Since The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara was launched a decade ago, a total of 60 endowed chairs have been established, bringing the campus total to 84.

The most recent professorship was created with a $1 million gift from alumnus Richard Whited and his wife, Paula, to support the teaching and research of an outstanding assistant professor with interdisciplinary research interests focusing on energy efficiency. Whited, who earned his B.A., M.A., and doctorate in physics at UCSB, said he made the gift because he wanted to give back to the university.

UCSB Chancellor Henry T. Yang expressed his gratitude to the couple for their generous gift. "The Richard Whited Chair will not only advance research and teaching at the forefront of innovative discoveries in interdisciplinary science, with a focus on energy efficiency, but will also help develop the career of a brilliant assistant professor in this frontier area," he said. "This is a tremendous gift that will have a lasting impact at UC Santa Barbara."

Endowed chairs are highly prized academic positions that recognize scholarly excellence. Proceeds from the endowment provide permanent funding to support the activities of distinguished scholars.

Pierre Wiltzius, Worster Dean of Science, said the Whited chair "eminently represents the strengths of UCSB's collaborative spirit."

Recognizing Distinction

Private gifts are increasingly important in maintaining the quality of UC Santa Barbara's mission of teaching, research, and public service. Among the principal forms of private support are endowed chairs, which support the educational and research activities of distinguished members of the faculty.

The following generous benefactors have made permanent investments in UC Santa Barbara's future by establishing endowed chairs.

Honor Roll of Donors

Lancaster Society

UC Santa Barbara is grateful for the extraordinary support of our alumni, parents, friends, trustees of the UC Santa Barbara Foundation, corporations, and foundations who have contributed $100,000 or more to the university over time. Through their commitment and leadership, these distinguished members of the Lancaster Society have helped build the university's reputation for teaching, research, and public service. The Society is named for Louis and Winifred Lancaster, civic-minded philanthropists deeply committed to the public partnership that is at the heart of UC Santa Barbara. During their lifetimes, they helped establish the UC Santa Barbara Foundation and worked tirelessly to build meaningful bridges between the university and the larger community. Their vision is sustained through the loyal generosity of today's members of the Lancaster Society, celebrated for their contributions to an enduring foundation for excellence at UC Santa Barbara.

Legacy Circle

The Legacy Circle honors alumni, friends, faculty, and staff who have included UC Santa Barbara in their estate plans through some form of planned gift. Membership in the society is conferred upon those who have communicated to the university their intention to make a gift through a bequest, charitable trust, charitable gift annuity, pooled income funds, life insurance, retirement fund, or a gift of property with a retained life estate. The following generous donors are providing the legacy of support that will enable UC Santa Barbara to continue to grow and excel.

Chancellor's Council

The Chancellor's Council, UC Santa Barbara's premier annual giving program, recognizes donors of $1,000 or more to the university. These gifts are essential to building and maintaining the overall excellence of the campus. They may be unrestricted for use where the need is greatest, or restricted to support a specific department or program. UC Santa Barbara honors and celebrates alumni, friends, parents, and trustees of the UC Santa Barbara Foundation for their ongoing partnership and commitment to the future of this great university.

The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara

UC Santa Barbara today is widely recognized as one of the world's leading centers for teaching and research, distinguished by its collaborative spirit and commitment to advancing the frontiers of knowledge while serving society. Private giving plays an enormous and critical role in this endeavor.

■ Over the past decade, through The Campaign for UC Santa Barbara, generous individuals, including alumni and parents, and other donors have contributed $623 million to support innovative projects and campus priorities. During this time, UC Santa Barbara has developed in ways that reflect both your support and your pride.

■ UCSB's endowment has grown by $130 million. A total of 60 new endowed professorships have been established to advance teaching and research. Also, 170 new graduate fellowships have been created. Major capital projects and campus enhancements were also completed.

■ Today, the campus is at another critical moment in its history. We need your help to advance an ambitious agenda that includes transformational research, dedicated teaching, and a commitment — as a great public university — to enhancing the lives of the citizens of California and our global society. ■ We are extremely grateful for the generosity you have shown to UC Santa Barbara in the past, and we sincerely thank you. Now, we welcome your engagement and participation in this important new phase of our common enterprise.
